Learning: Key Leadership Lessons

- Adaptive Leadership
- When environment changes, biological creatures and living systems are required to make critical decision to survive, thrive, and face challenges

Reflect: Personal and Group Pondering

- The Landscape, the Challenge, Your Leadership Adventure
- The World in Front of You is Nothing Like the World Behind You
- No One is Going to Follow You Off the Map Unless They Trust You on the Map
- In Uncharted Territory, Adaptation is Everything
- You Can't Go Alone, but You Haven't Succeeded until You Survive the Sabotage
- Everybody Will Be Changed

- What resonates with your experience?
- What reaffirms what you have already learned?
- What challenges your assumptions?
- What evokes a strong reaction from you?

Relate: Going Deeper

In the coming week, talk with a trusted adviser, confidant, or honest friend:

- In what ways have you observed my openness to learning?
- In what ways do you think I can improve as a learner?
- When have you observed me dealing with loss in an appropriate and healthy way?
- In what ways can I grow to better deal with my own losses and help others confront their losses?
